

Migration & Human Rights:
Stories from Latin America & the Middle East

Saturday, November 12, 2016 | 9:00am-3:30pm
John Hope Franklin Center, Room 028 | Duke University

Workshop Agenda

- 9:00-9:10am Welcome & Introductions
Emily Chavez, Outreach Coordinator, UNC-Duke Consortium in Latin American and Caribbean Studies
Emma Harver, Program/Outreach Coordinator, Duke-UNC Consortium for Middle East Studies
- 9:10-10:10am Lecture: History of Connections between Latin America and the Middle East
Ellen McLarney, Associate Professor of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Duke
- 10:10-10:20am Break
- 10:20-12:00pm Panel Discussion: “Contemporary Migration, Displacement, and Human Rights”
Deborah Weissman, Reef C. Ivey II Distinguished Professor of Law, UNC
Niklaus Steiner, Director, Center for Global Initiatives, UNC
Maha Houssami, Lecturer of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies, Duke
Adia Coley, President, INJAZ, Duke
- 12:00-12:30pm Lunch
- 12:30-2:15pm SAF: Theatre of the Oppressed
Student Action with Farmworkers
- 2:15-2:25pm Break
- 2:25-3:00pm Presentations on Oral Histories and Curriculum - Arab Oral Histories & New Roots
Emily Chavez, Outreach Coordinator, UNC-Duke Consortium in Latin American and Caribbean Studies
Emma Harver, Program/Outreach Coordinator, Duke-UNC Consortium for Middle East Studies
- 3:00-3:20 pm Small Group Discussion / Share Out
- 3:20-3:30 pm Wrap Up & Evaluation